In various ways the circus of the present day differs from that of the past. but the ring remains unchanged: It is trains. It will be seen that by this time always forty-two feet nine inches in card, the B. & M. trains stop at Forest diameter. Go where you will, search the world from China to Peru, with diverging trips to the frosty Caucasus and the Desert of Sahara, and never a circus will you find without a ring forty-two feet nine inches in diameter. There is a reason for this remarkable uniformity. Circus riders and circus horses are nomadic; wherever their wanderings bring them they must find the ring always the same, else they will be disturbed in their performance, if not really rendered incapable. Trained to the forty-two feet nine inch ring, the horse and his rider have grown used, worn, one might say, to the exact angle of declivity toward the center of the ring which the radius of twenty-one feet and a given speed produce.

The mound on the circumference of the ring always has on the inside a level. so to speak, of earth at the same angle as that into which radius and speed throw the driver.
